To Whom it May Concern:

Thank you for the opportunity to provide information about my judicial philosophy. The role of a judicial officer in a constitutional republic is to apply the facts of a case to the law. It is not the role of a judicial officer to substitute their own judgment or political belief. A judicial officer should treat all persons with respect and patience, recognizing the seriousness and importance of each proceeding.

Sincerely,

/s/ Robert I. Brooks
Superior Court Judge, Maricopa County
